

SCRIPPS-CSIRO-UTAS

Marine Science Student Travel Award

CSIRO Marine and Atmospheric Research together with the Centre for Marine Science (Quantitative Marine Science Program) will award one student the opportunity to visit the Scripps Institution of Oceanography in La Jolla California.

The award will provide funds to the value of $AUS 5,000 for travel and accommodation.

To be eligible for consideration of this award, students must be enrolled in the UTAS-CSIRO Joint PhD Program in Quantitative Marine Science, have an agreed host at Scripps and be prepared to give a seminar whilst there.

Applications are to be one page or less in length providing details of the agreed host and an outline of the concept and the benefits of such a visit. If in doubt as to who may be an appropriate host at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, please approach your supervisor. You should also attach an abstract of the seminar that would be given whilst at Scripps and a current CV.

Please submit your application to Denbeigh Armstrong by 3 July 2009

Further enquiries are to be directed to:
Denbeigh Armstrong, Centre for Marine Science
email: Denbeigh.Armstrong@utas.edu.au

For more information regarding Scripps Institution of Oceanography please check the website:
www.sio.ucsd.edu

