

Are you capable of living your dreams, or will you be forever helping others live theirs? This question is at the heart of the Entrepreneurship Major.

Introduction

The Entrepreneurship Major is not only concerned with your ability to develop knowledge that is related to new enterprise creation, but also your personal development. As such, you will not so much learn about entrepreneurship, but rather for and through entrepreneurship. The Major complements all other majors in the Bachelor of Business degree by providing students with a set of dynamic skills that are increasingly being sought after by employers.

Careers

The Entrepreneurship Major has two distinct possible outcomes. One is self-employment. Students have the opportunity to develop their own innovative idea in a supportive environment, and to take that dream to market. Alternatively, students have the opportunity to stand out from other graduates through the development of valuable graduate attributes. In an ever-changing world, those that can genuinely solve problems with creativity are valued over those who do not have the ability to find their own way forward.

Completion of the Entrepreneurship Major provides you with the opportunity to take control of your future, and to set your sights on those things that really matter to you. The greatest opportunity available to you is to discover what you really enjoy doing, and then to have the courage to find that place where you would love to be doing it. Are you up for the challenge?
