Health Care Reform: Challenges and Opportunities

Henry Jones Art Hotel

9 am – 3 pm
8th June, 2007

The University of Tasmania and the Council On The Ageing (Tasmania) invite you to attend and participate in a forum on the range of emerging challenges and opportunities in the provision and reform of health care now and into the future. Topics covered by a range of speakers will include ethics, State-Federal relations, integration of health care systems, workforce issues and the impact of an ageing population. With its well-contained health system and service networks, Tasmania is in a unique place to develop new ideas and appropriate evidence for health care for all Australians.

Keynote speakers include:

John Menadue, former senior Federal public servant, Chair of NSW Health Council Review in 2000, Chair of the South Australian General Health Review in 2003 and Chair of NewMatilda.com

Professor John Dwyer, Chair of the Australian Healthcare Reform Alliance and Professor of Medicine at the University of New South Wales.

Entrance is free but seating at the Forum is limited so please RSVP to Jacqui.Robertson@utas.edu.au by Friday the 1st of June. For further details, please call Professor James Vickers on 03 62264808, e-mail to James.Vickers@utas.edu.au or Mr John MacKean on 03 62445172, e-mail to mackean@netspace.net.au.
