Excited by the search for the unknown and the joy of discovery?

So are we.

The University of Tasmania is a world-class institution in Tasmania. Committed to excellence in teaching, learning and research, we’re also dedicated to the creation, preservation and communication of internationally renowned knowledge. Our postgraduate programs reach across a diverse range of specialised and traditional disciplines: agriculture and aquaculture, provocative creative arts, innovative business programs, cutting edge science, leading research, law and education reform, comparative philosophies. UTAS has all these and much more. Our community is linked to the nation and the world by the education we provide. At the University of Tasmania your future is in our sight.
