1 Objective ........................................................................................................................................ 2
2 Scope ............................................................................................................................................... 2
3 Procedure ......................................................................................................................................... 2
4 Versioning ....................................................................................................................................... 2
1 Objective

This document details the procedures relating to plagiarism and referencing in open book examinations in the Faculty of Law.

2 Scope

These procedures apply to all students enrolled in units taught by the Faculty of Law.

3 Procedure

The University rules on plagiarism apply to all examinations, including open book examinations.

Students must give references for material that is not their own and use inverted commas for material quoted word for word from other sources.

Students can use shortened case titles and treaty names as long as it is clear to the assessor what they are referring to. For example, it is acceptable to refer to: “Article 53 of the UN Charter” or the “The decision of the House of Lords in Donoghue’s case”.

Students do not need to give the full citation of cases, journal articles, or other sources, but do need to give enough information so that the assessor can see where the information comes from.

4 Versioning

| Current Version | Version 1 – Procedures Relating to Plagiarism and Referencing in Open Book Examinations: Faculty of Law, approved by the Dean (Professor Otlowski), May, 2011. |