School of Medicine
Short Course Program
Basic Assessment & Support in Intensive Care

This is an International course developed in Hong Kong, and taught by local and Interstate Intensive Care Specialists. The target audience for BASIC courses are junior ICU doctors, doctors who are scheduled to rotate through critical care in the near future and senior trainees in medicine, surgery or emergency medicine.

Workshop content
The course is designed to prepare participants in the assessment and practical management of the seriously ill patient in the acute medical environment.

DATES
14th - 15th February 2019
14th - 15th November 2019
WHERE
8:00am - 5:30pm
University of Tasmania, Medical Science Precinct
17 Liverpool Street, Hobart
COST
$600 (GST inclusive) inc. course manual

Topics covered include:
- Principles of mechanical ventilation
- Acute myocardial infarction
- Management of severe sepsis & septic shock
- Management of severe trauma
- Transport of critically ill patients
- Oliguria and acute renal failure

Register to attend at:
www.utas.edu.au/medicine-short-course
Registrations close Friday, 25th January 2019 (February Workshop) and Friday, 25th October 2019 (November Workshop)

Numbers are limited

Contact Us
General Enquiries
Continuing Professional Development Unit
Ph: 03 6226 7797
Email: cpd.medicine@utas.edu.au