To whom it may concern,

I am concerned about the possibility of putting into law measures that would prevent people talking to gender confused individuals without the possibility of criminal proceedings. Freedom of speech is not something that should be done away with because of the tactics of a noisy LGBT lobby group. The pendulum has swung too far in that it seems like noisy minorities can express any opinion they like without redress whereas when more conservative views are aired they are labelled as LGBT phobic and biggotted.

Yours sincerely,

Chris
