“Tasmania has a stunning natural environment and a refreshing climate, offering a tranquil and inviting atmosphere. As an Australia Awards Awardee, I got the best experience to live on this spectacular island and study at the University of Tasmania with world-class facilities. I met many students across the world with diverse cultures - the world is coming closer together - and shared invaluable experiences with them academically, socially, and culturally. Pursuing a PhD in Architecture and Design at the University of Tasmania has fostered my research skills with specialised insight and expanded my professional networks. The University of Tasmania offers an outstanding education system that gives benefits not only for my future career, but also for broader communities.”

Freddy Hendrawan
Doctor of Philosophy (Architecture and Urban Environment)
