

Scholarships Application Guide

The University of Tasmania Scholarships Program provides significant financial and academic support to study with the University at undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

There are hundreds of scholarships on offer. Selection is based on various criteria such as academic merit and/or financial need, area of study, sporting ability and musical talent (to name just a few).

Scholarships are available for Domestic students, and International students who have either completed Years 11 and 12 in Australia, or who have completed their first semester of degree study in Australia.

Applications

There are two application rounds for scholarships every year:

“Main Round”

The majority of our scholarship offerings run on a calendar year basis. The main round applications open at the beginning of August and close strictly on 31 October for awards commencing in Semester 1 the following year.

“Mid-Year Round”

This is a smaller round, which opens in May and closes strictly on 30 June for awards commencing in Semester 2, and for awards commencing in Semester 1 the following year, for continuing Engineering students.

DECIDE ON YOUR COURSE PREFERENCES

You will need to know your University of Tasmania course preferences so that you can apply for relevant scholarships. Many scholarships are only available for a particular area of study.

SELECTION CRITERIA

The selection criteria for each award is clearly noted, both in the listing for each award on the website (via the Scholarships A-Z search functionality), and within the online application. Read the selection criteria for each award very carefully and only apply for those for which you are eligible.

USE A PRIVATE EMAIL ADDRESS

If you don't have a personal email account, you should create one so you can communicate with the University. This means you will be able to receive immediate acknowledgement of your application, online advice of offers and have access to change your admission course preferences, address information, etc. If you are currently in Year 12, please don't use your college email address as you won't have access to that once you finish college.

GET YOUR CV READY

You will be requested to submit your CV (or résumé) within the online application by answering questions that relate to your background, work experience and skills; interests, hobbies, and community involvement; as well as information on previous education and any prizes or certificates you may have received. Any details you wish to provide will need to be included within the specific questions in the online application. No other supporting documentation will generally be required, or accepted. Please do not email copies of certificates or college results/references unless specifically asked.

HAVE YOUR HOUSEHOLD FINANCIAL DETAILS ON HAND

Applications for scholarships awarded on the basis of financial need will require details of your financial circumstances to be submitted. Details will be required for the current calendar year, that is, the year prior to which scholarship funding is being sought. No supporting documentation is required. Please give all details within the online application.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?

You must click Submit for the application to be sent to the Scholarships Office.

For our main round, allocation of awards to students commencing university for the first time starts once Year 12 results are released. For high achievers, the first offers are usually made the week prior to Christmas.

Allocation of awards to current university students starts once university results are released. The first offers are usually made in early December.

The Scholarships Office needs to wait until results for all applicants for each award are available, before sending the applications to a selection committee. If an interstate applicant has applied for the award this process may take longer than normal.

Once the Scholarships Office has all the required information, applications are distributed to selection committees comprising a broad representation of both university staff and external members affiliated with that particular scholarship.

Once members of selection committees have met and decided on their preferred recipient, the Scholarships Office is advised. A formal scholarship offer is then made to the applicant by the Scholarships Office.

If successful, an email advising you of the offer will be sent to you by the Scholarships Office. You will then need to follow the online link provided to you in the email to respond to the offer. Once the offer is accepted, the Scholarships Office arranges payment as per the details in the offer.

Please note that unsuccessful applicants are not notified. You can check on the status of scholarships you have applied for on the A-Z scholarship listing page
<http://info.scholarships.utas.edu.au/AwardsAZ.aspx>

For our smaller mid-year scholarship round, applications are sent to committees shortly after the closing date and offers are made as soon as the various selection committees return their decisions.
