

TASMANIA LAW REFORM INSTITUTE

Should Tasmania have Notional Estate Laws? Written Consent

TASMANIA
LAW REFORM
INSTITUTE

The Tasmania Law Reform Institute (or 'Institute') is an organisation that looks at Tasmanian laws.

We make sure laws are

- up-to-date
- needed
- fair
- work well.

We are asking people whether Tasmania needs a new law about

- people's estates and
- what family members can claim when someone dies.

estates are the money and things owned by someone when they die

claim is when you ask the Supreme Court to decide what happens.

There are questions so you can have your say.

We might share what you tell us:

- on our website;
- in a report.

If you don't want us to share what you say, please tell us.

We will respect your privacy.

Telling us what you think is up to you.

You can change your mind up until we finish writing our report.

You can tell us you have changed your mind

(03) 6226 2069

Law.Reform@utas.edu.au

We can't take your comments out after our report goes to be printed

If you not happy with how we have done our study, you can tell the Tasmanian Social Sciences Human Research Ethics Committee

(03) 6226 6254

human.ethics@utas.edu.au

Tell them ethics reference number [H0016752].

Please tick (✓) how you want us to use what you tell us:

- The TLRI can share what I say and tell people that I shared my ideas

- The TLRI can share what I say but not tell anyone my name

- The TLRI cannot share what I say

.....

Signed

...../...../.....

Date

Name: .....

Phone Number: .....

Email: .....