

RESEARCH TRAINING PROGRAM (RTP) SCHOLARSHIP
RTP STIPEND and RTP ALLOWANCE
INTERNATIONAL CONDITIONS OF AWARD 2023

1. OVERVIEW

The main objectives of the Research Training Program (RTP) are to:

- provide flexible funding arrangements to support the training of domestic candidates and overseas candidates undertaking Higher Degrees by Research at Australian Higher Education Providers;
- deliver graduates with the skills required to build careers in academia and other sectors of the labour market;
- support collaboration between Higher Education Providers and industry and other research end-users; and
- support overseas candidates undertaking Higher Degrees by Research at Australian Higher Education Providers.

It is the principal program of the Commonwealth Government for supporting promising researchers, with awards available in all fields of study. The program is administered by the University of Tasmania (the University) and the Commonwealth Department of Education. The University pays award holders all entitlements under the award.

The University has offered you an:

- RTP Stipend to assist you with your living costs while undertaking the Higher Degree by Research;
- RTP Allowance to assist you with costs associated with relocating to Tasmania to undertake your Higher Degree by Research; and

International candidates that become permanent residents or citizens of Australia during their candidature will become liable for the Student Services and Amenities Fee \(SSAF\) as determined by the University.

2. ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible for an RTP Stipend, and RTP Allowance a candidate must be either a domestic candidate or an overseas candidate enrolled in an accredited Higher Degree by Research at the University.

To be eligible for an RTP Stipend a candidate must not be receiving income from another source to support the candidate's general living costs while undertaking their Higher Degree by Research if that income is greater than 75 per cent of the candidate's RTP Stipend rate. Income unrelated to the candidate's course of study (e.g. employment income) or income received for the candidate's course of study but not for the purpose of supporting general living costs will not be taken into account.

To be eligible for an RTP Fees Offset a candidate must not be receiving an equivalent award or scholarship from the Commonwealth Government designed to offset tuition fees for their Higher Degree by Research.

In 2023 all domestic applicants will be offered an RTP Fees Offset provided they are not receiving an equivalent award or scholarship from the Commonwealth designed to offset Higher Degree by Research tuition fees.

RTP Scholarship awardees are required to accept and commence by the dates stated in their letter of offer. If an awardee wishes to delay the date of commencement, a formal application must be submitted to the Dean of Graduate Research for approval, including a justification for the delay, a proposed new date of enrolment and a letter of support from the primary supervisor. A delayed commencement beyond 1 December 2023 will not be approved. If the awardee does not enrol and commence by the maximum commencement date stated on their letter of offer and permission to delay commencement is not granted, then the offer will be withdrawn.

The period of support of an RTP Scholarship is always subject to the awardee making satisfactory academic progress and terminates on the expiry of the Award or on submission of the thesis for examination, whichever is the sooner.

3. RTP STIPEND

RTP stipends are awarded on a competitive basis.

In its competitive selection process, the University will give priority to applicants who:

- hold an Australian or New Zealand bachelor's degree with first class honours or qualifications and/or research experience deemed equivalent by the University;
- have a proposed project in an area identified by the University as one of research strength,
- have not already completed a Doctoral degree or equivalent; and/or
- have not already completed a Master of Research degree or equivalent unless intending to undertake a Doctoral degree.

Applicants who do not satisfy some or all of the above will be considered in the competitive selection process, but may not be prioritised against other applicants who have.

4. RTP STIPEND RATE

Full-time candidates receive a stipend at the rate of AUD$31,500pa non-taxable (2023 rate, indexed annually).

The stipend rate for any subsequent year is the same as that for the preceding year, indexed in accordance with the method set out in Part 5-6 of the Higher Education Support Act 2003.

5. RTP STIPEND PERIOD OF SUPPORT

The period of support is calculated from the date of enrolment in the Higher Degree by Research, except where the RTP Scholarship is awarded after commencement of candidature.

The duration of the award is 3 years and 6 months for a Doctoral candidate and 2 years for a Masters candidate. There are no provisions for an extension.

A candidate's period of support will be increased pro-rata for those periods of paid leave stipulated in section 14 and approved by the University.

The period of support of an RTP Stipend will be reduced by any periods of study undertaken towards the degree prior to the commencement of the RTP Stipend.

There are no provisions for RTP Stipend extension.

6. RTP ALLOWANCES

Relocation Allowance:

Award holders may apply for a one-off relocation allowance of up to AUD$2,000 in total towards the cost of relocating to Hobart, Launceston or the Cradle Coast from within Australia or from overseas to take up the award.

The allowance covers one way travel expenses for the award holder, any dependent spouse/partner and dependent children, equivalent to the cheapest economy airfare to Hobart, Launceston or Burnie. Where an award holder elects to travel by car, they will receive a per kilometre allowance as determined by the University.

Claims for relocation allowance must be submitted:

7. TRANSFER BETWEEN HIGHER DEGREES BY RESEARCH

The University may approve, on the recommendation of the Dean of Graduate Research, the internal transfer of an RTP Stipend from a Master of Research degree to a Doctoral degree or from a Doctoral degree to a Master of Research degree. The period of support of a transferred RTP Stipend becomes that for the new Higher Degree by Research, reduced by periods of equivalent full-time enrolment (FTE) undertaken towards the related degree prior to the transfer.

10. TERMINATION

The University will terminate a candidate's RTP Scholarship once the thesis is submitted for examination or at the end of the Award, whichever is earlier. Awards will be terminated before this time:

- when the candidate ceases to be full-time and when approval has not been obtained to hold the award on a part-time basis;
- if the award holder does not resume study following a period of suspension or make arrangements to extend that suspension;
- if the award holder takes unapproved leave from their candidature, with no response to attempts at communication by the University;
- if the award holder fails to participate in a formal review of progress and does not respond to reasonable requests to do so;
- if an award holder fails to confirm their candidature within their first twelve months of equivalent full-time candidature or make arrangements for an extension to their confirmation of candidature due date;
